You responded to brief Google Ads help for coaching company

Hello Luite de Jager,

You need someone who has the expertise to set up and tweak a Google Ads campaign for your coaching business, all the way down to continually monitoring it...

More details needed about the brief

+6 years of Google Ads experience and optimization for service-based companies, such as coaching and consulting. I work hands-on with an in-house team to provide consistent attention to campaigns, instead of occasional check-ins. I am okay with starting with the shorter period of management first, for a couple of weeks or a few months, before seeing the changes and results, or let's jump straight to the full management period of two to three months as that is what you prefer.

Before I finalize a more specific plan, I had a couple of questions:

- >Can you provide the current URL of your website that I can see?
- > How many campaigns running right now, and what is your daily budget?

Anticipating a response & wanting to get going.

Brief-related message

Hi Faisal,

Thanks for your response.

My website is luitecoaching.com.

I recently set up Google Ads myself and currently have ads running. The account is still quite new and there is only limited data so far. I can see some activity, but I'm looking for someone with strong Google Ads experience to review what I've set up, make sure the foundations are right and optimise it professionally from there.

My current Google Ads spend is around €500 per month.

My initial market is the Netherlands and Belgium, targeting Dutch-speaking clients. Longer term, I want to expand internationally.

My business focuses mainly on entrepreneurs and professionals who carry a lot of responsibility and are used to performing at a high level. They often keep going even when their head is constantly busy, their energy is dropping and the pressure is starting to affect both their work and personal life. I help them regain calm, energy and clarity and create a more sustainable way of moving forward.

For me, the important part of Google Ads is therefore what happens beyond the click. I want to attract qualified leads who genuinely recognise the problem I help with and have the potential to become coaching clients.

How would you approach an account like this with a €500 monthly ad spend, what would you focus on first, and what would your monthly fee be for ongoing management?

If you think there could be a good fit, I'm also happy to have a short call.

Best,
Luite

Hello Luite,

Sep 24, 12:26 AM

Thanks for sharing the details. I've reviewed your website, and, considering your current €500/month ad budget and the coaching service you offer, I would keep the initial Google Ads strategy focused on attracting high-intent Dutch-speaking prospects rather than spreading the budget across multiple campaigns.

My initial approach would be

- Account & tracking review

I'll review your existing campaign structure, keywords, match types, ads, targeting, bidding, and conversion tracking to make sure the foundation is set up correctly.

- Focused search campaign

I'll refine the campaign around relevant Dutch search terms based on the specific problems and coaching solutions presented on your website, with a focus on users showing genuine intent.

- Keyword & ad structure

I'll organize the keywords into closely related ad groups and align the ad messaging with the search intent and your landing-page content.

- Conversion tracking

I'll verify important conversion actions such as contact forms, consultation/booking requests, and calls, so future optimization is based on actual lead data.

- Search-term & negative keyword optimization

I'll regularly review search terms and remove irrelevant traffic to make the most of the €500 monthly budget.

- Ongoing optimization

I'll monitor CPC, CTR, conversion rate, cost per lead, and search-term performance, then adjust keywords, bids, ads, and budget allocation based on the data.

- Landing-page review

Since I've already reviewed your website, I'll also keep an eye on the journey from the ad click to the inquiry and point out any relevant landing-page or messaging improvements that could help improve lead quality.

For the first month, my focus would be on getting the foundations right, collecting meaningful data, and identifying which search intent is producing the most relevant enquiries. Since the account is still new, I would avoid making too many changes before there is enough data to make informed decisions.

My ongoing management fee would be $200/USD month, excluding the Google Ads budget. Your €500/month advertising budget would be paid directly to Google.

The monthly management would include campaign optimization, keyword and search term management, negative keywords, ad optimization/testing, conversion tracking checks, and performance reporting.

If this approach sounds aligned with what you're looking for, we can move forward and get started.

Looking forward to hearing from you.

Luite de Jager

Thanks, this gives me a much clearer picture of your approach. One important question before we schedule a call: since the campaigns and search terms will be in Dutch, how do you handle Dutch keyword research, search intent, search-term analysis and ad copy if you don't speak Dutch fluently?

Understanding the nuances of the language and the intent behind the searches is important to me, especially given the relatively limited ad budget.

Me

That's a very fair question, especially with the €500 monthly budget.

Since your website and target audience are Dutch-speaking, I'll conduct the keyword and search-intent research specifically around your Dutch website and market using Google Ads and other research tools. These will help identify high-intent, low-intent, and irrelevant search terms.

For my own understanding, I may translate the Dutch terms into English, but the actual keyword targeting, search-term analysis, campaign structure, and ad copy will remain in Dutch and aligned with your audience and offer.

I'll also focus heavily on the context and intent behind each search rather than relying on direct translation alone.

So please let me know your thoughts on it.

Luite de Jager

Thanks Faisal, your approach sounds good to me. I'd like to have a short call to discuss the account and see if we're a good fit.
Would tomorrow at 12:30 PM my time / 4:30 PM your time work for you?

Me

Absolutely, 12:30 PM your time / 4:30 PM my time works perfectly. I'll be available and ready to discuss the project, your goals, and how we can approach the campaign within the current budget.

Looking forward to speaking with you.

Luite de Jager

Perfect, thank you. Shall we do the call through Fiverr tomorrow? If so, could you send/start the video call here at 12:30 PM my time / 4:30 PM your time?

Me

Yes, sure! Tomorrow at 12:30 PM your time / 4:30 PM my time works perfectly.
